

New and improved leadership recertification process

We've made it easier than ever to recertify your leadership awards while developing your skills. The new system switches from "credits" to "points," but there's a lot more to it than that. Let's dive in.

Why the change?

Change is tough, we get it, but over the years we've noticed some areas for improvement within our recertification system. The new system is designed to better support the professional development of instructors, coaches, examiners and trainers. There is now a wider variety of options to earn points and recertify with ease.

How many points do I need?

Every 24 months, you'll need to earn 4 points to recertify the awards you hold.

Which Points List do I use?

Select which items you'll use to recertify from the Points List that matches your highest level of certification. For example: If you are a First Aid Instructor and First Aid Examiner, you use the Examiner/Examiner Mentor Points List.

Is it hard to earn 4 points?

The new system is designed to account for the work that goes into earning and maintaining certifications, as well as teaching, examining or coaching Society awards. The points earned align with the effort put forth once you become a certified instructor.

Instructors, coaches, examiners and examiner mentors who want a quick and easy way to earn 4 points will benefit from our new In-person Recertification Course. In this optional course, you'll earn 4 points in four hours. Following the course, you will need to complete the recertification process before your awards expire.

Where can I find an In-person Recertification Course?

Visit Find A Course and navigate to the Instructing/Coaching/Examining tab to search for a course near you or contact your local pool.

Can I still recertify online?

Yes! Our online recertification system remains the same. We've done the work behind the scenes to update the system to "points" so all you have to do is log in and follow the steps. Make sure you have your web access code and member ID handy.

If online isn't an option, complete the Leadership Recertification Form and email, or mail it the Society office.

Where can I get more information?

We know you have questions, and we have answers! Read the What's New for more information on the new system, how to use it, how to plan for your recert, and to get more details about the new recertification course.

Still have questions? Visit our website for more FAQs and info.

STACK 'EM UP!

You can now "stack points" – instructors who teach the same eligible course more than once, earn points for each time they teach that course within their 24-month currency period.

For example, if you teach two separate Bronze Cross courses, you'll earn two points for EACH course. Refer to the Points List for your highest level of certification to see which options are available to use more than once or "stack."

FINDING YOUR WEB ACCESS CODE AND MEMBER ID

To recertify your awards online, you need to create a Lifesaving Society user account, which requires your unique web access code and member ID. The web access code is found on the tear-away portion of the printed version of any Lifesaving Society permanent certification card, directly below the blue portion.

Your member ID is located on the blue portion of your permanent card; it is a six-digit code made up of letters and numbers. Society staff use this code to track your qualifications, courses you've taught and other Lifesaving Society activities.

If you don't have your web access code or member ID contact us

Magnetawan Lions Club Swimming Lessons

Magnetawan is a small Township in the Almaguin Highlands region of Parry Sound. Located on the Magnetawan River and tucked between two lakes, this little place has a lot going on. The township is buzzing with events like art in the park, soapbox races, music nights, fireworks, parades and aquafit on the beach.

Each summer, the lakes and river are filled with residents and cottagers alike. With all the action on the water – swimming, boating, fishing – the local Lions Club saw an opportunity to make summer safer. They started offering free swimming lessons at the local beach – a tradition that has continued for the past 56 years.

Magnetawan Lions Club fundraises year-round. The group hosts 50/50 draws, pickerel dinners, bottle drives and more. The community's hard work has paid off; the program has grown from just 10 swimmers in the first year to 134 swimmers in the summer of 2023. What started as swimming lessons alone, now includes Bronze Medallion, Bronze Cross and Standard First Aid courses, and new for the 2024 season – a Swim and Lifesaving Instructor course.

Former lifeguard, Cliff Cookman heads up the program on behalf of the Lions Club. A highlight for him is the program's longevity. Each summer he looks forward to seeing former swimmers watching their children and grandchildren learning to swim at the same beach. He's also pleased to have many swimmers return as instructors.

The program's success has caught on, and now the Lions Clubs of Sundridge and Dunchurch are hosting lessons, too. The Magnetawan community encourages others to follow suit.

Water Smart® in 18 languages

In our mission to eradicate drowning in Canada, we continue to add new languages to our Water Smart messaging roster. This year we've added Water Smart Tip Cards in six more languages: Cree, Dene, German, Oji-Cree, Spanish and Ukrainian.

Tip cards are a simple and effective way to share water safety information with newcomers in your community. Order Water Smart Tips Cards at lifeguarddepot.com and keep them on hand at your facility, pass them out at community events, and leave them with local businesses, hotels and community centres to display and share.

Fierce competition needs a manual

If you've ever been part of the action at an Ontario Championship, you know the need for a comprehensive rule book. From the dozens of DQ codes to where a manikin goes, there are a lot of moving pieces.

Thankfully, the new 2024 edition of the Ontario Competition Manual helps you figure out what equipment goes where – and exactly what you need to wear. Neatly aligned with ILS, the new manual holds the rules, standards and procedures for Ontario championships, and is a must have for competitors, coaches, clubs and officials.
